THE FOUNTAIN WILL BE TURNED ON

The Ledger man has received assurance from several of the councilmen that the fountain will be turned on so that horses can get a drink. Water would have been spouting forth ere this but one of the parts of the artificial spring has been broken in some manner and will have to be replaced. It will be welcome news to the many who believe in giving the horse a fair deal.

Some little rock has been placed in the street car track along West Second street below Short street. The condition of the track along this place was very bad and the rock placed there is quite a great improvement in the street.

$50,000 SUIT

Filed Yesterday by the Administrator of Wesley Gullett Against the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad.

Yesterday in the Mason Circuit Court suit was filed by the Equitable Trust Co. of Dover, Ky., as administrator of the estate of Wesley Gullett, against the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad for $50,000 for the death of Gullett.

The petition states that while crossing on Carmel street plaintiff's said intestate was by the carelessness and negligence of the defendant its agents and servants, run over instantly killed by one of the freight trains going west. They ask for $50,000 and all proper relief. Hon. A. D. Cole represents the plaintiff.

It will be remembered that Gullett tried to pass in front of on coming west bound freight train No. 99 and that he miscalculated its distance from him. The train was in charge of Engineer Vernard and Conductor Belew. Gullett was instantly killed, his skull being mashed in and almost every bone in his body being broken.

The case will attract a great deal of attention in this community as it is for such a great sum. The case will be brought up at the next term of court.

NEW PROPOSAL

Is Submitted by Rail Heads—'Put Issue Squarely Up to Men,' Says Official, Arbitration Finding Retroactive, Feature—National Crisis Expected By Noon.

Washington, August 25—After the heads of the four great railroad brotherhoods, threatening a nation wide strike, had gone to the White House today with a warning that their men would not wait longer than tomorrow night for a reply from the railroad executives to President Wilson's suggestion that an eight-hour day be granted, the executives tonight agreed upon a counter proposal to be submitted to the President tomorrow. This plan, holding to the demand for arbitration which the employees have declared they unalterably oppose, proposes:

That the question of an eight-hour day is not directly connected with the matter at issue and that there is a difference between an actual eight-hour day and an eight-hour day as a basis for pay.

That question of increases of wages are indisputable questions which should be settled by arbitration; That the present demands of the trainmen be submitted to arbitration by the Interstate Commerce Commission or some board to be created by the President or in some other way.

Finding to be Retroactive
That if the arbitrating board finds wage increases should be granted their finding will be retroactive and the increase will take effect from the time the arbitration begins.

That a fund shall be created by the railroads to provide for this contingency, the Interstate Commerce Commission to keep the accounts that will be necessary, and the arrangement to be determined upon, the men agreeing that during the period of arbitration there shall be no further demands nor any attempt to strike.

A draft of this report was submitted tonight by the committee of eight presidents who have been constantly at work upon its various phases for a week. There was some discussion but only one vote was taken, and by it the sixty presidents and managers approved the draft. Some slight additions to the phraseology are to be made and the final draft presented at another meeting tomorrow morning.

Final Report of Executive
From that meeting the report is expected to be taken to President Wilson. It was said tonight this will be the final report of the executives.

"It puts the issue squarely up to the men," was the way one officer phrased it.

The crisis in the situation is expected by noon tomorrow, when the President has an engagement to see the Brotherhood leaders.

He asks for $3,000 damages. Messrs. H. W. and A. D. Cole represent the plaintiff.

CATCH BOOTLEGGER

Will Hunter of Washington Captured Last Night by Officers—Charged With Selling Whiskey in Local Option Territory.

About midnight last night Deputy Sheriff Mike Brown, together with Chief of Police James Mackey and one of the local officers raided the home of Will Hunter, colored, at Washington, and found there a great deal of whiskey stored away beneath a stairway. He will be given a trial within the next few days.

Mr. Brown has for some time been trying to get enough evidence together to get a case on Hunter and it was not until within the past few days that this evidence was secured. When the officers raided the home they found three baskets of whiskey and a government license for 1916 hid away. The whiskey was confiscated and Hunter brought to Maysville and lodged in jail.

It is said that Hunter has been selling liquor in Washington for the past several years but it seems as if evidence to that effect was very hard to get. The officers claim to have the affidavits of quite a number of citizens of that neighborhood, saying that they have purchased whiskey at various times from Hunter. He is reported as having made a small sized fortune during the time he has been selling booze.

The trial of Hunter will be held within the next few days.

SPECIAL MEETING

Of the City Council Held Last Evening To Discuss Telephone Question—Company Will Go Back to Old Rates.

At a called meeting of the City Council held last evening the attorneys of the Telephone Company addressed that body in regard to the telephone rates now in effect.

The attorneys stated to the Council that the company was not willing to give up the higher rates entirely but that the old rate would be restored until January 1, 1917, when they have secured 800 subscribers and the system is in better working order. They asked that a new franchise be drawn up and advertised and sold to the highest bidder. Upon their receiving the franchise they will surrender the old one to the city. The claim that they will have the needed number of subscribers by January 1 to enable them to raise the rates, and for the present they will restore the old ones. All persons that have paid the new rates will be restored their money.

After some discussion the Council instructed the City Attorney to prepare a new franchise and to advertise and sell it.

BLOODY PROSPERITY.

"No one disputes a temporary prosperity in our land today. But it is sectional in its factory aspect, abnormal in its fevered rush, fictitious in its essentials, and perverting in its tendency. Worse, it is the gold sluiced from the river of blood, poured out by the horrifying sacrifice of millions of our fellow men. God forbid that we should boast a prosperity wrought in such waste of human life. We had rather rejoice in the prosperity of peace."—United States Senator Warren G. Harding.

WILSON'S VIEWS ON UNION LABOR

The Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., has given out the following statement at its Washington Headquarters:

"Justices of the United States Supreme Court are not charged with the duty of molding public opinion. According to press reports, President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor purposes to attack the record of Candidate Charles Evans Hughes toward labor, and to plead the cause of President Woodrow Wilson in the coming campaign. President Gompers will offer as evidence in support of his attack the judicial attitude of Mr. Hughes in the Danbury Hatters' case. Regardless of Mr. Hughes' holding in that case, and it is generally admitted that it was not subversive of the just rights of labor, it should be borne in mind by every laboring man in this country that Mr. Hughes while Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court was performing his sworn duties in interpreting Federal statutes as presented before his Court. For the passage of those statutes he was in no wise responsible. It was his sole function to determine their legal application to the cases at bar to the best of his ability. To have shown favoritism to either side would have been a cowardly and criminal violation of his oath of office. The attitude of Mr. Hughes while on the Federal Bench, as of all members of that august tribunal, was, and should be, 'the cold neutrality of an impartial judge.'"

"Any deviation from that position would subject the highest court in the land, and rightly so, to the suspicion of all classes and sections of the country. Failure on the part of our Supreme Court Judges to interpret statutory legislation without fear or favor would render that bulwark of our constitutional liberties a hothouse for the propagation of class control and destroy our Republican form of government. For this reason President Gompers' attack on Mr. Hughes for his holding in the Danbury Hatters' case will make no appeal to the intelligent laboring men, union or non-union."

"On the other hand, we have as a matter of record, the baccalaureate sermon of Woodrow Wilson, delivered to the students of Princeton University, June 14, 1909. At that time Mr. Wilson was not a candidate for the Presidency. He had no political axe to grind. He felt at liberty to speak freely the thoughts that were in his mind. He was addressing several hundred young men who were going out into the world, and whose thoughts had been molded by Professor Wilson in the class room. Everyone of those young men left his alma mater with these words ringing in his ears:

"You know what the usual standard of the employee is in our day. It is to give as little as he can for his wages. Labor is standardized by the trade-unions, and this is the standard to which it is made to conform. No one is suffered to do more than the average workman can do. In some trades and handicrafts no one is suffered to do more than the least skillful of his fellows can do within the hours allotted to a day's labor, and no one may work out of hours at all or volunteer anything beyond the minimum. I need not point out how economically disastrous such a regulation of labor is. It is so unprofitable to the employer that in some trades it will presently not be worth his while to attempt anything at all. He had better stop altogether than operate at an inevitable and invariable loss. The labor of America is rapidly becoming unprofitable under its present regulation by those who have determined to reduce it to a minimum. Our economic supremacy may be lost because the country grows more and more full of unprofitable servants."

"Labor will have its own jury service to perform in considering the merits of the two candidates for the presidency, and this is part of the evidence against Woodrow Wilson."

It is very evident that there was some manipulation in the Treasury Department at the close of the fiscal year June 30, 1916, in an effort to make a good showing on the books. The daily statement shows that on June 30 the total ordinary receipts were $64,825,913 and disbursements a little less than $2,000,000. The next daily statement covered two days, July 1 and 2, and the total receipts were only $1,416,000 while the disbursements were $4,416,000, leaving a deficit of $3,000,000 in the business of the government in the first two days of the new fiscal year. The only conclusion the man of ordinary business experience can reach is that by some sort of manipulation the Department managed to crowd a few millions of receipts into the fiscal year 1916, whereas, without the manipulation, they would have gone over into the fiscal year beginning July 1. Eventually, the facts will all come out.

Senator Walsh of Montana will run the Democratic headquarters at Chicago, Roger Sullivan to the contrary notwithstanding. A day or two before his appointment to this job Senator Walsh made a speech in Washington condemning the selection of a candidate for the Presidency from the bench. His reward for thus attacking Hughes was promptly forthcoming.

The noble qualities that distinguished Mr. Hughes as a lawyer, as governor of the State of New York and a member of the highest court in the land, will bring to his standard a tremendous following.—Trenton (N. J.) State Gazette.

PARAGRAPHS

Two futile invasions of Mexico and six separate and distinct policies on the question of permitting arms and ammunition to be sent into that country are included in the performance of the Wilson administration in its dealings with our southern neighbors in less than three years. It is this characteristic instability of the government that makes people want a change.

When Charles E. Hughes said: "The dealings of the administration with Mexico constitute a confused chapter of blunders," he gave an explicit characterization of the Wilson administration's policy in one sentence.

Just as it is now obstinately shutting its eyes to the need of industrial preparedness, for three years the Wilson administration refused to see the need of adequate military preparedness. With war on our southern border it was content to rely on a regular army that could only muster 40,000 available men and refused to continue the established policy of building up our navy. When the time came for action, the country had not sufficient troops to police the border and this force has been supplemented by a trifle more than one third the war strength of the national guard. If the national administration had had the ability to interpret the signs of the time military preparedness would have been well under way instead of barely begun.

Charles E. Hughes, the Republican candidate, recognizes an important fact that Woodrow Wilson, the Democratic president, appears to have overlooked—that the United States is big enough to help Mexico out of the condition of anarchy in which that country is plunged and, by securing order in Mexico, insure peace on our border.

The insuperable handicap of the Democratic party in this campaign is its record.

If the Democratic national administration had left on the statute books in 1894 the federal corrupt practices act placed there by the Republicans there would be no occasion for the present administration's campaign publicity measure which, at best, is a very poor substitute for the law repealed.

President Wilson's campaign managers are entitled to all the comfort they can get out of calling the roll of Progressives who are going to vote for him. It would be an endless task to call the roll of Progressives who are not going to vote him.

For every reason that can be advanced why Progressives should vote for Wilson, ten can be advanced why they should vote for Hughes and the beauty of it is that they know the reasons without having to be told.

The Wilson administration went in to Mexico to punish Villa for his outrage on American soil. The only punishment inflicted has been on American soldiers who were shot down at Carranza by order of First Chief Carranza.

"Franklin Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, sees strong trend for Wilson in Maine."—News Dispatch. Who can blame a man who for three years has been assistant to Joseph Daniels for "seeing things"?

Even Woodrow Wilson could not save the infamous Clarke amendment to the Philippines bill. He lost the ablest member of his cabinet, Secretary Garrison, because of his advocacy of the policy of scuttle, but even the sacrifice of Garrison could not save it.

Democrats who harbored hopes that Josephus would catch the virus from the Bryan and Garrison resignations are still nursing their disappointment. Nothing remains for them but to resign to a realization that Josephus will not resign.

President Wilson is now anxious to have it thought that there was no withdrawal of troops from Mexico at the request of Carranza. Why not go one better and declare that we never had any troops in Mexico to withdraw?

PROMISE TO REDUCE THE COST OF LIVING NOT KEPT.

Our opponents promised to reduce the cost of living. This they have failed to do; but they did reduce the opportunities of making a living. Let us not forget the conditions that existed in this country under the new tariff prior to the outbreak of the war. Production had decreased, business was languishing, new enterprises were not undertaken, instead of expansion there was curtailment, and our streets were filled with the unemployed. What ground is there for expecting better conditions when the unhealthy stimulus of the war has spent its force and our industries and working-men are exposed to the competition of an energized Europe?

It is plain that we must have protective upbuilding policies.—From Mr. Hughes' speech of acceptance.

NEW YORK LETTER

(From Our Regular Correspondent)

Won't Withdraw Troops—It is declared by those close to the President that he will not take Gen. Pershing's advice and withdraw Gen. Pershing's command from Mexico. It is explained at the White House that Mr. Wilson is afraid that if he does withdraw Pershing there will be increased raids by Mexican bandits. Anyone who will take the trouble to look at the map will be mystified by this explanation. Pershing's troops are at Colonia Dublan, 130 miles South of the border, and his line of communication runs North and South, or at right angles to the border. It does not require military training to realize that a military force can far more effectively guard a border by patrolling that border, than by maintaining a line at right angles to it. Indeed, were Pershing's forces withdrawn they could, in a large measure, relieve the militia of its task of guarding the border. So it would seem that in offering this explanation the President is pursuing his customary policy of assuming that the American public is either too much concerned with its own affairs to think, or that it is too unintelligent to reason and that, like a child, it will accept any explanation that a paternal President thinks it wisest, or finds it easiest, to give it.

Strikes and Safeties—New York is still awaiting with eager interest the outcome of the railroad strike negotiations being carried on at Washington, although it is still confident that a strike will be averted. New Yorkers are generally relieved that the renewed danger of a street-car strike has been dissipated by the yielding of the companies to certain demands which were supported by the Mayor. But there is now another strike which has greatly increased the demand for safety razors and which threatens to make New Yorkers generally resemble William Jennings Bryan or Senator Vardaman. The New York barbers have gone on strike and only men whose wives are experts with scissors and a bowl can find relief from superfluous adornment. Peffer whiskers are coming into style. Bald headed men are in clover and there is such anxious demand for safety razors which will give a quick scrape with the least pain. Certainly "little old New York" does have its troubles.

The Shipping Bill—Certain of your readers have written suggesting that the criticism of the Shipping bill in this correspondence was unduly harsh, that it struck them as partisan rather than just. The truth is that the severest critics of the Shipping bill are Democrats. They dare not openly criticize the measure because they fear the revenge of the President, and more especially, of his son-in-law, Secretary McAdoo, the real father of the Shipping Bill. In proof of this, note what the New York Times, a Democratic paper which is loyally supporting Wilson, has to say. It says of the Shipping bill which has gone to conference, "It is not the bill. It may be harmless because futile, but it is still open to a multitude of objections," and again "The shipping bill is a shadow of its original form as it approaches enactment. Meanwhile the case against it has grown stronger. If the bill were to be strengthened further by the omission of other causes of original opposition—as, for example, by the omission of the use of Government money in antagonizing private enterprise—there might be acquiescence in the fragment that is left." The Times, which certainly cannot be suspected of Republican partisanship in view of its loyal support of Mr. Wilson, does not say, as your correspondent has said, that the only purposes in passing what is left of the Shipping bill are (1) to "save the face of the President," (2) to provide places for "deserving Democrats" at $7,500 a year and expenses, and (3) to make $50,000,000 of government funds available for expenditure by the administration during the presidential campaign. The Times can hardly be expected to say that, but it does make perfectly clear that there is no good reason for passing it, that there are many valid objections to it, and it leaves to the common sense of its readers to decide what are the real reasons back of the administration's insistence on its passage.

Hughes and Sugar—Gov. Hughes has made it perfectly clear that as President he will advocate the restoration of the duty on sugar. According to the Republican view, the duty on sugar is highly important because it plays a dual part, protecting the beet sugar industry of the entire country and the cane sugar industry of Louisiana and because it yields a tremendous revenue without imposing any material burden on the consumer. That the sugar tariff can be made to yield a large revenue has been certified to by the Democrats in repelling a portion of the Underwood bill which would have put sugar completely on the free list before it could go into operation. The Republican duty on sugar yielded annually $53,000,000 revenue. This duty President Wilson, against the advice of Rep. Underwood and other more experienced Democrats, insisted upon abolishing and Congress, before his mandate, incorporated in the Underwood bill a provision which would have put sugar on the free list by successive steps. When, however, practically 75% of the duty had been removed the deficit in the Treasury loomed so large, despite the special taxes which had been imposed, that the Democratic leaders decided to repeal the clause which would have abolished the last of the sugar duty and thus avoid a further loss of approximately $15,000,000, and this was done, with the help of Republican votes. Mr. Hughes now indicates that one of the constructive policies of the administration will be the restoration of the duty on sugar, with, presumably, an increase of the customs revenues from this one item alone of, according to present rates of consumption, nearly $60,000,000. Some of Mr. Hughes' Democratic critics have been urging him to propose a constructive policy. This is his answer to such criticism.

A POLICY OF FIRMNESS AND CONSISTENCY NEEDED.

The Nation has no policy of aggression toward Mexico. We have no desire for any part of her territory. We wish her to have peace, stability, and prosperity. We shall have to adopt a new policy, a policy of firmness and consistency through enduring friendship. We demand from Mexico the protection of the lives and the property of our citizens and the security of our border from depredations. Much will be gained if Mexico is convinced that we contemplate no middlecourse interference with what does not concern us, but that we propose to insist in a firm and candid manner upon the performance of international obligations. To a stable government, appropriately discharging its international duties, we should give ungrudging support. A short period of firm, consistent and friendly dealing will accomplish more than many years of vacillation.—From Mr. Hughes' speech of acceptance.

SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother no Doubt Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months. I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles."

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardul, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardul is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardul today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.

THE COMPELLING PERORATION TO MR. HUGHES' ACCEPTANCE SPEECH.

We live in a fateful hour. In a true sense, the contest for the preservation of the Nation is never ended. We must still be imbued with the spirit of heroic sacrifice which gave us our country and brought us safely through the days of Civil War. We renew our pledge to the ancient ideals of individual liberty, at opportunity denied to none because of race or creed, of unswerving loyalty. We have a vision of America prepared and secure; strong and just; equal to her task; an exemplar of the capacity and efficiency of a free people. I endorse the platform adopted by the Convention and accept its nomination.

NEED OF CONSTRUCTIVE LEGISLATION

Just before the European war broke out we had a million skilled mechanics out of work and nearly half a million railroad men were idle, together with nearly half a million freight cars. The railroads were suffering from lack of freight to carry to market, and industry was gradually becoming stagnant. In Louisiana two hundred thousand acres of sugar land were plowed up because of Democratic changes in the tariff law. It is generally conceded by all save the blind that the country was not progressing. Attempts were made to keep courage up by the predictions made by Secretaries McAdoo and Redfield and President Wilson of the great trade booms which were soon to appear but which failed to materialize until the outbreak of war on the continent.

INTERESTING FIGURES

Given Out by Republican Publicity Association Should Be Studied by Thinking Voters — "Hughes Will Not Be Minority President."

Washington, August 25—The Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., today gave out the following statement at its Washington Headquarters:

"If the country votes at the presidential election this year as it voted at the Congressional election of 1914, Hughes will carry California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Dakota, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

"These states have 286 votes in the electoral college, a majority of which is only 266.

"In each of these States, two years ago, the Republican Congressional ticket received a clear plurality of votes. In these States combined the Republican candidates for Congress received 4,075,157 votes, while the Democratic candidates for Congress received only 3,132,568 votes—the total Republican plurality being 942,589.

"In each of these States, in 1914, there was an organized Progressive campaign—except in Nevada, Utah and Wisconsin, although in Utah there was a Fusion ticket running in opposition to the Republicans. The total Progressive vote in these states was 745,341; and the combined Republican-Progressive plurality over the Democrats was 1,688,930.

"Two years ago there were five states—Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Nebraska, and Ohio—which are fairly to be classed as normally Republican and where the Democratic Congressional ticket received a plurality of votes ranging from a bare majority in Maine to an impressive 42,752 in Indiana. But the Progressive vote in each of these five states was far in excess of the difference between the Republican and Democratic totals, and ranged from 3,111 in Nebraska to 90,940 in Indiana. In Kansas the Progressive vote in 1914 amounted to 74,441; in Ohio it was 47,981; and in Maine it was 17,955.

"These five states will cast 63 votes in the electoral college. How will they vote this year?

"Hopeful Democratic statisticians estimate the division of the former Progressive vote upon different proportions—in each instance, however, giving the long end of it to the Republicans and in no instance claiming that more than 30 per cent of the Bull Moose will support Wilson. Upon this extreme hypothesis, let us examine the vote of the five states where a Democratic plurality was found in the congressional elections of 1914.

"The Republican vote of Indiana in 1914 was 233,140; the Progressives casting 90,040 and the Democrats 275,892. Dividing the Bull Moose strength on the basis of seventy and thirty per cent, respectively, to the Republicans and the Democrats, the vote of Indiana this year should be: Republican, 296,162; Democratic, 302,904. The margin is too small for comfort on either side; and Indiana must remain as fighting territory until the votes are counted.

The Progressive—aided, it is said, by Democratic funds—are maintaining an organization in that state; but competent observers believe that from 85 to 90 per cent of the Moose will vote for Hughes and that the number who will support Wilson are negligible. Upon this basis, Indiana should for Hughes and Fairbanks by nearly 30,000.

"The seventy-thirty division applied to Kansas would give that state to the Republicans by the following figures: Republican, 240,215; Democratic, 218,162.

"In Maine the result would be: Republican, 72,888; Democratic, 66,071.

"In Nebraska the figures should show: Republican, 113,376; Democratic, 113,820. This is another hair-line of demarcation—but there is no Bull Moose ticket in Nebraska this year; and while the contest will be a hard one, the indications are that Hughes will carry the state.

"The same division of the Progressive vote in Ohio would produce figures for 1916 in this wise: Republican, 511,039 Democratic, 498,653.

"It is, therefore, a fair assumption that, in addition to retaining the states which disclosed a clear Republican plurality in 1914—and which assures a majority of the electoral college—the Republican ticket will this year carry Kansas, Maine and Ohio without question and secure for Hughes and Fairbanks a total of 326 out of the 531 votes in the electoral college—with more than a fighting chance to add 23 votes of Indiana and Nebraska to that number, making 349, or a majority of 167.

"Hughes Will Not Be a Minority President."

"The figures upon which the foregoing is based are taken from the 'World Almanac,' and in detail they are as follows:

TOO DANGEROUS TO OVERLOOK

Maysville People Will Do Well to Heed the Warning.

To have good health, the digestion, heart, lungs and kidneys must work perfectly. When there is anything wrong with the digestion, heart or lungs, a very noticeable pain or distress gives prompt warning. Kidney trouble is more easily overlooked, however, and too often gives a long start. But kidney trouble does give early signs, and backache, headache, dizzy spells, rheumatic pains, too frequent, scanty or painful urination should not be neglected. When these warnings appear, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the reliable, successful, strongly-recommended kidney remedy. Assist the medicine by taking things easier, reducing the diet and the use of liquors. A severe attack of kidney disease may be avoided. Doan's Kidney Pills have won the grateful praise of Maysville people. Read this Maysville resident's endorsement.

W. F. Lynch, 127 W. Third St., Maysville, says: "My kidneys were weak and the passage of the kidney secretions were scanty and painful. Having used Doan's Kidney Pills before, I again got a box. They quickly restored my kidneys to a normal condition."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Lynch had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

HUMANE NOTES

(Contributed)

Some one has suggested that the Humane Society get busy and have the water turned into the fountain on Market street. Some members of the society approached the Mayor on the subject and he said the water would be turned on the next day. Others have talked about it; some articles written last week and published, suggesting that the fountain be put into operation, but it is not done. The taxpayers of the city have a right to have the use of water in that fountain. The country people who patronize the business of this city, need water for the horses they drive into town. The horses that are working on the streets need water now all along the streets as they never needed it before. They should have water six times a day in such weather as this, but the water troughs are closed, the fountain empty. Some women, who are "Angels of Mercy," have put buckets and hose out near the hydrants so that drivers can water their teams without much trouble or delay. Will not every hydrant near the street have a bucket placed near so horses can have water?

How could we do without water. Let the windows of heaven be closed for three months and no rain fall on our country, the men who now are so careless about seeing water provided for the dumb brutes, would be on their knees begging for water. Water is as great a necessity for animals as for men, but the river is too inconvenient a place for most of us to get water from for stock. Anybody can be a "knocker" and it is not an enviable reputation to have, but when our public officials are so dilatory about attending to public duties it is time for the "knockers" or some one else to get busy. We need civic pride and a larger amount of public spiritedness in this city, and less superficial display that soon shows to others we are not "what we would seem to be."

MANCHESTER BOY MARRIES IN PORTSMOUTH

Miss Katherine Mault, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Mault, of Slocum Station, and Mr. Charles Wesley Lawwill, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Lawwill, of Manchester, were married Tuesday at high noon in camp near Manchester. The attendants were Miss Mirtle Mault, sister of the bride, and Mr. Drew Leedom, of this city. The wedding guests included only the members of the immediate families. The impressive religious ceremony was held by Rev. L. C. Monberg, pastor of the M. E. church of Manchester. The ceremony was followed by an elegant dinner in camp, where the happy couple will remain for an outing before coming to Portsmouth to reside at 1645 Highland avenue, where the groom has a prettily furnished home in readiness for his pretty bride.—Portsmouth Times.

UNION SERVICES

The Union Service of the churches of the city will be held tomorrow night in the Third Street M. E. Church. This is the regular night for the meeting to be held in the Episcopal Church but as Rev. Fielding is out of the city and Rev. E. R. Overly, district superintendent of the Ashland District was to be at the Methodist church the meeting will be held there. Strangers are especially invited to be present.

SURPRISE PARTY

A number of young people of the Sixth Ward gave a surprise party Thursday to the guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Farnier of Forest avenue, Miss Mildren Renford of Fort Thomas, Ky.; being the feted lady. About twenty-five were present and all enjoyed themselves.
